

Arts in Alternative Education Grants FY2025 Program Guidelines

Application Deadlines

60 days before the project begins.

Students who attend alternative education schools often require specific educational interventions. Artists in residence can help these students to build new skills and develop healthy methods of creative self-expression through classes like creative writing, painting, photography, music, and theatre while also allowing them to complete a Fine Arts credit (required for high school completion). Previous participating schools report that artist in residence visits result in increased attendance and higher graduation rates, among other positive student outcomes.

Arts education can play an important role in improving academic performance in Oklahoma. Studies show that students who have four years of high school arts education score higher on college entrance exams than students with little or no arts education. Arts education often improves performance in math and science, increases school attendance, promotes civic engagement, and decreases anti-social behavior. In addition, arts education supports the development of the whole child, builds skills, and offers students positive methods of creative self-expression.

Students receive the most benefit when they receive an arts education that is:

- Sequential, building skills and knowledge over time,
- Hands-on, allowing students to engage deeply in the creative process, and
- Led by educators with both artistic expertise and educational experience.

Program Goals

- Expand arts access (dance, drama, literary arts, media arts, music, and/or visual arts) to more Oklahoma students
- Support hands-on, sequential arts learning
- Offer arts education for students in alternative education school sites that is tailored to meet individual student and site goals and that supports the goals of Oklahoma Alternative Education
- Allow participating students to complete a Fine Arts credit required for graduation
- Create more opportunities for Oklahoma students to meaningfully engage with the arts during the school day

What Expenses Are Allowable?

Funding from the Arts in Alternative Education Grant can be used to reimburse the following expenses:

- Contracted Administration or Technical Fees (payment for a contracted project coordinator, grant writer, or other professional services)

Required Outcomes

Proposals for funding must seek to accomplish the following:

- Outcome 1: Hands-on and Sequential Arts Experiences

Projects should offer students meaningful opportunities for hands-on participation in the arts. Projects should also focus on sequential learning experiences in which students build artistic knowledge and skills over time. Students should receive six or more hours of hands-on time directly engaging in the art form (projects that include one-time make-and-take experiences are not eligible). The benefits of arts education are most fully realized when students engage with the arts consistently over time.

- Outcome 2: Creative Expression

Projects will offer students opportunities to make creative choices and/or experiment within the parameters of the artistic discipline and/or medium. Students are encouraged to express themselves creatively as they participate in the arts.

- Outcome 3: Learning from Teaching Artists

Students receive instruction from teaching artists whose expertise in the art form is well demonstrated. Teaching artists also demonstrate proficiency as educators, bringing skills such as classroom management, arts learning assessment, and student engagement to their arts classrooms.

- Outcome 4: Overall Student Success and Performance

Studies show that arts education offers unique benefits to students beyond the classroom. Consistent, high-quality arts education is linked to higher student literacy and student performance in math, science, and other content areas. Arts education also encourages students to practice critical thinking, problem-solving, goal-setting, and strong habits for working individually and as part of a group. Participation in the arts also correlates with increased empathy, healthier emotional regulation, and self-confidence. In order to demonstrate commitment to quality arts education, projects should address grade-appropriate learning standards from Oklahoma Academic Standards in Fine Arts
